SATURDAY, MARCH 5.

JEALOUSY and envy seem to be the ruling passions just now with some New Mexican newspapers and politicians.

CHICAGO wants the earth and that fenced in. Its latest desire is for an honest and efficient board of aldermen.

THE advertised "concentration" and "fight among Republicans" in this city have so far failed to materialize. Shocking, but true.

DESPITE the recent attempt to assassinate him, King George of Greece is said to still wax his mustache. Habit is always strong.

ONE of the most abused men in the country is U. S. Senator M. A. Hanna. There must be something very strong and powerful about the senator to attract so much fire from opposition papers and politicians.

SIXTY-EIGHT per cent of the Spanish people can not read. They are certainly to be congratulated upon this happy condition of affairs. Were they able to read the papers published in Spain, they would certainly go crazy.

THE question of the location and erection of a large beet sugar factory in the Santa Fe valley will be agitated by this paper until success crowns its efforts. And it must be admitted that things in that direction do not look so very bad.

THE New York Sun and the New York Tribune speak not as they pass. Reminds one that they are only following in the footsteps of some New Mexican papers. This territory is bound to be ahead in everything, you bet.

A LAS VEGAS paper is very solicitous concerning Governor Otero's future actions. Well, it ought to be. It fears that some of its friends, who deserve removal from public office under the provisions of the law, may get hurt. True, too true.

THE Republicans of Alabama have concluded to place a straight Republican ticket in the field during the coming campaign. That is business and business of the right sort. A strong courageous fight in politics beats a cowardly and sneaking policy all hollow.

NEW MEXICO must make the right kind of a display as the Omaha exposition. The commission having this matter in charge is composed of good men. With the aid of the people and of county officials a creditable exhibit can and will be made. This aid should be given without stint and with liberality.

It must be admitted that paying 20 per cent for the collection of delinquent taxes, when the county has a well-paid collector and a well-paid district attorney for the purpose, is rather an exorbitant sum. This, however, is what is going on in Colfax county, according to the advices received by this paper.

EL NUEVO MEXICANO, the Spanish paper published by the New Mexican Printing company, is increasing in circulation and influence every week. It is a true friend of the native people of this territory and advocates their interests as they should be advocated. That it is a power in New Mexico will be shown during the coming elections.

WHAT a splendid effect the removal of a dishonest or delinquent or inefficient county collector would have upon the question of the collection of taxes. The fight the New Mexican has made and is making in tax matters has already done great good and will be kept up for the good of the people as a whole and of the honest taxpayers specially.

UNDER the recent Democratic administration many acts of dishonesty and corruption by territorial or county officials were either condoned or hushed up. But times have changed, and the executive has changed with them. Some of these acts will be disclosed and some of the officials who committed them will suffer. The mills of the gods grind slowly, but they are grinding in the right direction.

GOVERNOR OTERO will do his duty under the law and in a direction calculated to benefit the best interests of the territory. Howls and insinuations from Democratic papers and politicians who desire to keep corrupt or dishonest officials in office will affect him not. Governor Otero is not a very large man physically, but corrupt officials will find out in due course of time, that he has a good, sound, straight, big backbone. This is not a Democratic administration, not by a good deal.

UNCLE SAM is not getting any poorer under the present administration. The net gold coin and bullion in the treasury at the end of February was, in round numbers, $168,000,000.

THE average Englishman is a good hand at giving advice. Even Mr. Gladstone likes to do that. He said recently that $100,000,000 was too dangerous a power for any one man to have, and that the American government ought to seize the owner thereof and take control of his money. Has Mr. Gladstone been able to impress this advice on England?

RESPONSIBILITY is a wonderful blood cooler. At the time the Maine was destroyed the demand of the great majority of the American people was for war at once. "Fight first and ask for explanations after," was heard on every hand. As time passes and the gravity of the situation becomes better known, the horrors of modern warfare better understood and the knowledge that the responsibility for the terrible results of a conflict with Spain would rest upon the American people should they act without allowing the mystery which surrounds the sinking of the warship to be investigated, public opinion has undergone a wonderful change. President McKinley's conservative and careful position is universally commended, and while numberless men are ready to avenge the death of the men on the ill-fated ship, they are desirous that the facts in the matter be fully determined before any guns are trained upon Moro castle.

It Must Be Admitted.

Not many months past it was the favorite pastime of Democrats and Democratic newspapers to sneer at the prosperity promised by the Republican party, and to ask factious questions concerning the arriving time of the prosperity train. For the past three months the inclination in the circles mentioned to ask about "General Prosperity" has not been so pronounced, in fact the war scare has come as a welcome diversion from the subject by the free trader. This point was well illustrated a few days ago on a passenger train as it passed through the territory on its way west. A party of gentlemen was gathered in the smoking compartment of a parlor car, engaged in a general conversation, when the subject of protection and prices was broached. One man, after listening for a short time, said: "I am a cattle man from Kansas. For a number of years past I have had a hard time to keep my business from going to the bad, but now I am making money. Under present conditions it would be difficult to convince a cattle owner or buyer that the Republican party has not brought prosperity." The gentleman who brought up the matter changed the subject at once and no more was heard in a political way on that train.

The fact of the matter is, that while there is a depression in some lines of industry which is caused by conditions arising from causes beyond the province of legislation, prosperity has arrived on schedule time and the men who are engaged in the greater number of commercial enterprises admit the fact—those who are honest in their expressions attribute the change to the resumption of a policy of protection, regardless of political beliefs. The next two years will compel those who will not now admit that protection has brought about better things, to admit that a tariff for revenue, or tariff for reform, as it is called, worked disaster to the entire country. Object lessons are sometimes needed to make impressions upon minds so constituted that nothing short of a practical demonstration will convince. That lesson was learned in the years from 1892 to 1896.

Do Not Overlook New Mexico.

Last fall it was predicted that early in the spring an unprecedented rush for the mines in the Klondike region would set in. Winter has not yet given way to the milder season of the year, but the predicted exodus has already begun. Every vessel sailing from the ports on the Pacific coast carries hundreds of hungry gold seekers, while the west-bound trains carry thousands who dream of the golden treasures to be had for the asking in that far away and inhospitable land.

What the result will be can only be determined by the future. Of the hardships to be suffered by the men who are making the trip and who are arranging to go later on, people know something from the many articles that have been published in papers and magazines in the past year. What the reward of suffering and hardship will prove to be depends largely upon the energy and industry of each individual miner. That there is gold in the frozen ground, there is no doubt; that it can be gotten out has been proved; that all of the yellow metal to be mined is needed in the commercial transactions of the world there is no question, and the stay-at-home people will wish the adventurous every success in the world. At the same time the New Mexican cannot but be of the opinion that the same amount of money and energy expended in this territory would produce more lasting results, while the comforts of working in this climate will more than offset the possible and problematical gains to be derived from a journey to the frozen north.

Great Difference Whose Ox Is Gored.

The course of the New Mexican in exposing corruption and official misdoing, existing under the administration of Democratic officials and that have existed during the last five years in many instances in official circles and in the management of territorial institutions, does not meet with the approval of Democratic papers and Democratic politicians. However, it was not expected that it should. In this case, as in most cases in life, it seems to make a good deal of difference, whose ox is gored. Whenever the Democratic newspapers or Democratic politicians can find the least excuse to assail Republican officials or Republican papers they do so; indeed in many cases they have done so and are doing so today without any cause whatever. All kinds of corruption, dishonesty and misdoing are charged and iterated and reiterated by these papers and men against Republicans and Republican officials and Republican newspapers. But when the shoe is put upon the other foot and a Republican paper or a Republican official makes any charges against Democrats or Democratic officials, then there is a howl of persecution, party hatred, bitter partisan feelings, injustice and the like.

This sort of a howl, however, has no effect on the New Mexican and will have none. It will call a spade a spade and will hit official corruption and official misdoings, whenever it discovers such, and certainly will not be mealy-mouthed about such matters. If this course is not liked, that cannot be helped. This paper has a duty to perform by the people and by the Republican party and proposes to perform it.

This paper has been furnished and is promised more information that will show mismanagement and corruption, that have existed in several offices and in several territorial institutions under the late very much unlamented and unregretted Democratic regime, and this information will be given to the people from time to time, as is deemed best. This journal, during the past year, has done good work in that direction and proposes to do a whole lot more. As far as the consequences are concerned, they will and must take care of themselves.

Too Much Knife!

The use of the surgeon's knife is becoming so general, resulting fatally in such a large number of cases, as to occasion general alarm. Mr. William Walpole, of Walsworth, South Dakota, writes: "About three years ago, there came into my left eye a little blotch about the size of a small pea. It grew rapidly, and shooting pains ran in every direction. I became alarmed and consulted a good doctor, who pronounced it cancer, and said that it must be cut out. This I would not consent to, having little faith in the efficacy of the knife. Reading of the many cures made by S. S. S., I determined to give that medicine a trial, and after I had taken it a few days, the cancer became irritated and began to discharge. This after awhile ceased, leaving a small scar, which finally dropped off, and only a healthy little scar remained to mark the place where the destroyer had held full sway."

A Real Blood Remedy. Cancer is in the blood and it is folly to expect an operation to cure it. S. S. S. (guaranteed purely vegetable) is a real remedy for every disease of the blood. Books mailed free; address Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.
